New Administration

Chief Paul Adams and Deputy Chief Matthew Vlahovich take the lead roles at the Lincoln Police Department

Administration Change

With Chief Paul Adams appointing Sergeant Matthew Vlahovich to the Deputy Chief position, there will be a lot of reorganization within the department.

The first change is getting the officers in the department appointed to the roles that suit them the best. There has been movement in Investigations along with patrol with the recent retirements.

Once the people are in the positions the administration will work with the employees and community in devising a new vision, mission, and strategic goals for the department. There will be some policy and procedure updates to go with the mission and to update outdated policies.

The administration will continue to work with schools and the DARE program to help educate our youth and to connect with them in positive ways.
